The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

AMSTERDAM, September 10. A Proclamation has been iſſued by the Magiſtrates of this City, offering a Reward of 3000 Florins for apprehending the Author, Printer and Publiſher, of a Libel lately publiſhed here, entituled, A ſhort Catechiſm, compiled for the Uſe of all who are willing to make their Fortunes by the true Practice of Docliſm: A Work which is calculated, as the Proclamation ſets forth, to ſow Diſcord between the Magiſtrates and the People, and withal ſo prophane, that no good Chriſtian can read it without Horror, the Author ſparing Religion as little as he does Civil Government.

Paris, Sept. 10. His Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty has been pleaſed to create the Marquis de Mirepoix, now Ambaſſador from this Court to that of Great-Britain, a Duke of France; and has been pleaſed to appoint M. de St. Conteſt, lately Ambaſſador to the States General, to be Secretary of State for foreign Affairs, in the Room of the Marquis de Puyſieux, who has reſign'd on Account of his bad State of Health.

Amſterdam, Sept. 12. There is much Talk in Italy of the great Road which the Genoeſe are making from Spezzia croſs the Mountains to Places thro' which the great Road of the Dutchy of Parma paſſes. This Work gives ſome Uneaſineſs to the Regency of Florence, who apprehend that the Commerce of Leghorn will ſuffer thereby. But what ſeems therein moſt to merit the Attention of the Publick is, that by Means thereof, the Troops which ſhould in Time of War be landed at Spezzia, might in two Days Time be in the Dutchy of Parma.

Parma, Sept. 2. The Infant Duke being informed that upon Account of the bad Harveſt, ſeveral Perſons have bought up great Quantities of Corn, in order to ſell it at an extravagant Rate, has publiſhed an Ordinance to forbid any Perſon from taking above a certain Price which ſhall be fixed by Commiſſaries appointed for that Purpoſe, upon Pain of having their Corn confiſcated, and paying a conſiderable Fine for the Benefit of the Poor.

Milan, Sept. 3. The Governors of this Dutchy, and of that of Mantua, have received Orders to take up all Perſons that are able to work, of both Sexes, out of the Priſons and Houſes of Correction, and ſend them to Hungary, in order to their being employ'd in the ſeveral Manufactories which are going to be eſtabliſhed in that Kingdom.

Florence, Sept. 3. There have not been ſo many Perſons of Diſtinction of both Sexes here from England theſe many Years, as now. The Trade of Tuſcany, which was threatened with Decay, ſenſibly revives, ſince Meaſures have been taken for eſtabliſhing a regular Correſpondence between the Ports of Leghorn and Trieſte. It is thought that this Commerce may, poſſibly, in Time, become one of the moſt flouriſhing in all Italy, eſpecially if that which is deſign'd to be ſettled with the Ports of Spain, take Place.

Genoa, Sept. 15. It was Yeſterday determined in Council, to make this a free Port for ten Years, and to leſſen conſiderably the Duties upon Goods brought by Foreign Ships; and in caſe our Trade ſhould receive as much Benefit from this Regulation, as we flatter ourſelves it will, the Serene Colleges, and the Protectors of the Bank of St. George, are authoriſed to prolong this Term for five Years. We have received Advice, that four Xebecks, from Barbary, have taken a Neapolitan Polacre, and one of our Barks, from the Weſtward, under the Cannon of Montenero.

Copenhagen, Sept. 18. A Swede is arrrived here, who pretends to have diſcovered the Secret of walking upon the Water, which, it is ſaid, he is to make an Eſſay of before the King.

Bern, Sept. 17. The Negociation which was begun ſome Time ago between France and the Canton of Zurich, for raiſing two Battalions of Troops, is juſt finiſhed, to their mutual Satisfaction, and Recruits are already raiſing to complete this Body, of which all the Officers of the Body are to be of that Canton.

Paris, Sept. 20. When the King came out of his Apartment at Trianon, to go to Verſailles, upon the Advice that the Dauphineſs was in Labour, a Soldier of the Swiſs Guards, full of Zeal, and with a good Aſſurance, ſaid to his Majeſty; Sire, I congratulate your Majeſty: We have as ſurely a Duke of Burgundy, as that you are King. In ſhort, the King was ſcarcely in View of the Caſtle, but Tidings were brought him, that the Dauphineſs was delivered of a Prince. To which his Majeſty ſaid, I heard that at Trianon. He has given the Soldier a Penſion, which, it is aſſured, is not leſs than 2000 Livres.

Cadiz, Auguſt 30. The Merchants of this City complain very much of the Decay of their Commerce to the Weſt Indies, which they ſay, ariſes from moſt of the Regiſter Ships which are ſent into that Part of the World, being freighted by ſome of the moſt conſiderable French Merchants, who are very rich, and in a Condition of running all Riſks, and who only employ Commiſſaries of their own Nation, and, perhaps, ſome few others, on whom they may ſafely depend. They further alledge, that as the greateſt Part of the Merchandiſe which are put on board theſe Ships, only paſs through their Hands, the other Commiſſaries have almoſt nothing to do: Theſe laſt are therefore very deſirous that the Court would again begin to ſend, as in Times paſt, the Galleons, and the Flotilla into theſe Countries. Every Body, and particularly the Spaniards themſelves, they ſay, would then have a Share in the Profits of this Trade; and the Monopoly which is at preſent carried on would ceaſe. Strong Repreſentations have been made upon this Subject to the Court of Madrid, but no Anſwer has yet been made to them; and there is but little Likelihood that any Alteration will ſoon be made in this Reſpect, becauſe it is evident, that the Court finds its Account better, by ſending from time to time Regiſter Ships, which return ſooner, and conſequently cauſe Money to come more frequently into the Coffers of the King, than by the Galleons and Flotilla. One may eaſily judge of the great Advantages which the French draw from this Trade, and the Quantity of Silver which it cauſes to go into that Kingdom, ſince it is aſſured, that this Nation is more than Half intereſted therein.

Marſeilles, Sept. 16. By a Ship lately arrived here from Saffia we have Advice, that as ſoon as the foreign Merchants eſtabliſh'd there were informed of the Ceſſion which was made of that Place to the King of Denmark, they preſented a Memorial to the Emperor of Morocco, requeſting that Prince to oblige the Danes to take off all the Goods that lay upon their Hands (but nothing of this being mentioned in the Act of Ceſſion, it cannot well be expected that the Subjects of his Daniſh Majeſty ſhould encumber themſelves with Goods which do not ſuit their Conveniency, and may poſſibly be inconſiſtent with the Trade which is intended to be eſtabliſhed there) that this Difficulty, joined to the Inconveniency of removing their Effects, which cannot be done without great Loſs, had engaged moſt of thoſe foreign Merchants to endeavour to get themſelves naturaliz'd as Danes, in order to partake of the Advantages of the Ceſſion; and that the reſt of them propoſe to eſtabliſh themſelves at Sallee.

Hague, Sept. 29. The Prince Stadtholder, before he ſet out for Aix-la-Chapelle, delivered to the States General, and the States of Holland and Weſt Frieſland, ſome Propoſals for improving the Trade of the United Provinces; in the Preamble of which, among other Things, it is ſaid,

"That his Serene Highneſs, ever ſince his Advancement to the Stadtholderſhip, having had nothing more at Heart than to reſtore the Republick to the flouriſhing Situation it was formerly in, thought nothing could contribute ſo much towards it as the Improvement of Trade, as being one of the fundamental Supports of the State; and that, in Conformity thereto, he had ſpared no Pains to inform himſelf, from the moſt experienced Merchants and Traders, of the preſent Situation of our Trade, and of the moſt ſuitable Methods to reſtore it.

"That his Serene Highneſs had the Satisfaction to lay before their High Mightineſſes a Plan which was delivered to him, relating to the Trade of theſe Provinces, containing Reflections equally well adapted to the preſent State of Trade, and to the Means of retrieving it; That, among other Things, he finds in this Plan a Propoſal for eſtabliſhing a Free Port, and conſiderably leſſening all Duties, which he looks upon as the only Means to make Trade revive, and enable the Merchants to draw it more and more into this Country.

"That his Serene Highneſs having found this Plan ſo advantageous to the Trade of the Republick, ſo neceſſary for the Support of the State, and ſo well calculated for the preſent Situation of Affairs, could not avoid recommending it to their High Mightineſſes, begging them to conſider of it as ſoon as poſſible, and with all the Attention due to a Matter of ſuch Importance, and to the Neceſſity of preventing a farther Decay of Trade, &c."

The States General after deliberating upon theſe Propoſals, reſolved to return Thanks to the Prince Staadtholder for his Attention to the Good of the State, and of the trading Subjects of theſe Provinces, as well as for his indefatigable Zeal and Application in ſearching out the Cauſes of the Decay of Trade, and the Means of reſtoring it to a flouriſhing Situation. Their High Mightineſſes have alſo thought proper to ſend Copies of the ſaid Propoſals, with the Plan annexed, to the reſpective Colleges of the Admiralty for them to conſider of, and draw up ſuch Articles as they ſhall think conducive to the Amendment of Trade, in order hereafter to take ſuch Meaſures as may anſwer the ſalutary Views of his Serene Higneſs. The States of Holland and Weſt Frieſland, have alſo come to the ſame Reſolution.

The Plan above-mentioned, after repreſenting the preſent Situation of Trade, and the Reaſon of its Decay, propoſes, as the Means of reſtoring it, to have all Sorts of Goods exempted from paying Toll throughout the Territories of the Republick, to eſtabliſh a general or limited free Port, and to diſtinguiſh, by a general Tariff, the ſeveral Commodities which ſhall be liable to pay Duty, thoſe which ſhall be exempted from it, and thoſe which ſhall be prohibited.

Amſterdam, Sept. 28. For ſome Weeks paſt, the Liberty which has been taken to reflect upon great Perſonages in ſatirical Pamphlets, has been intolerable, eſpecially in this Province, and indeed in this City, for in the other Provinces every Thing is very quiet. The Prince Stadtholder and his Miniſters, have been very freely treated in ſome; in others, the Factions of the Doeliſts, thoſe who overturn'd the Magiſtrates in 1747, and their Antagoniſts, Partiſans, of the old Regency, have torn themſelves to Pieces, and ſet forth in the worſt Light each other's Character and Conduct, and the Motives of Intereſt that have induced them to act as they have done. This gives great Uneaſineſs to the true Patriots. A ſevere Proclamation has been fix'd up in the publick Places of this City, againſt the Authors or Publiſhers of theſe Pamphlets, who are to be, at leaſt, whipp'd and baniſh'd, in ſome Caſes hang'd. As this ſort of Liberty has always been the Forerunner of ſome Revolution in the State, the moſt effectual Meaſures are taking to put a Stop to it; for the ſarcaſtical Strokes of theſe Writings raiſe the Indignation of the People who don't reaſon at all.

Dantzick, Sept. 25. The King of Poland, being inform'd that the Miſunderſtanding between the Regency and the Burghers of this City, is likely to prove detrimental to the publick Tranquility, has ſent a Reſcript, whereby his Majeſty enjoins the Burghers to behave themſelves with becoming Decency, till a Tribunal can be appointed to enquire into their Complaint, and procure them Redreſs, according to due Courſe of Law. This Tribunal is to ſit ſome Time next Month, and will conſiſt of the High Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, the Inſtigator of the Crown, two Civilians, and a Notary. In the mean Time the Magiſtracy takes great Pains to adjuſt their Differences with the Burghers before the Arrival of this Commiſſion.

Peterſburgh. Sept. 20. Her Imperial Majeſty has directed Preſents of great Value, to be prepared for the young Princeſs of Sweden. A very conſiderable Remittance has lately been made, by the Way of Dantzick, to a certain Court in Germany.

Bruſſels, October 4. It is aſſured, that after the Return of Prince Charles of Lorrain, regular Conferences will be held, in order to determine finally the Affair relating to the Barrier.

*. from Day.

It is remarkable, that when Philip Gibson, who was some Time ago condemned for a Street Robbery, was brought to the Bar to plead his Majesty's Pardon, in order to be transported for 14 years, he would not plead to it; and when his Majesty's Clemency was read to him, he refused it, saying, he had rather die than live, and did not thank his Friends, who had made Interest to have his Sentence changed, for that if he lived he would only be a Burthen to himself and them. The Court, tho' he behaved in such a Manner, would have had him to accept of the royal Clemency; but on his still refusing, he was ordered back to Newgate till the next Sessions; and when he was going out of Court he said, he should be in the same Mind if brought there again.

September 19. This Day, at the Entertainment at Apothecary's Hall, on the Confirmation of a new Master and Wardens, the Company was presented with the Picture of one of their first Members, in King James the First's Time, remarkable for his Preservation. This Gentleman was persecuted for his Religion in France, and so cruelly used, as to be, among other Hardships, in Danger of starving for want of Food, when Providence directed a Hen to find her Way into the Prison, who laid him an Egg every Day, which supported him till he made his Escape into England.

Sept. 20. We have Advice from Ratisbon, that the Evangelic Body hath wrote a very long Letter to the Emperor, complaining of the Encroachments of the Roman Catholicks at Oettingen, and earnestly beseeching his Imperial Majesty to interpose his Authority in such a Manner, as may leave the Papists no Hopes of seeing their unjust Proceedings favoured any more at Vienna.

Sept. 21. Yesterday the Transports from the New Goal, Southwark, were shipp'd at Blackwall for America; and the Beginning of next Week those from Newgate will be put into a close Lighter at Black-Fryars, to be also shipp'd for America. [All for the better Peopling the Colonies.]

September 26. When the Lords of the Admiralty dismissed the Complainants of the Fortune Sloop of War, against some of the Officers, a noble Lord of that Board made use of the following Words; "My Lads go about your Business; and, while I have the Honour to reside at this Board, you, and all other British Seamen, may depend on my Protection." At the same Time a Court Martial was ordered to be held on board the Monarch Man of War, Admiral Hawke President, to enquire into the Cause of the Complaint.

By Letters from Paris, we are informed, that the French King has taken off four Millions of the Taxes.

A few Days ago was launch'd at Brest, the Bizarre, a Man of War of 74 Guns; in the Building of which, a great Number of English Carpenters were employed.

Sept. 28. Within these ten Days, no less than fifteen Ships are arrived in the Texel from Greenland, and one from Davis's Streights, most of which have had good Success, and some of them have six Whales on board.

An Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated Sept. 30.

"The Parliament seems desirous to act as it did before the Reign of Lewis XIII. not having yet determined to register, purely and simply, the Declaration of the King concerning the Government of the General Hospital, &c. They nevertheless perceive that it must be done, the Orders of the King being too positive to be disobey'd; but they are willing to save Appearances, and to obey his Majesty in such a Manner as that the Authority of this august Assembly may not seem to be abridg'd; they therefore appointed Commissaries to deliberate upon the most proper Means to effect this. In order thereto, it was thought expedient to remonstrate a third Time, and to do it in concert with the Ministers, who counselled his Majesty to hearken to his Parliament: They went to Versailles with it, where they were better received than they expected, the King giving Ear to them, and telling them, that he would deliberate upon their Remonstrance in his Council, the Result of which was to qualify in some Degree the Edict which had caused all the Dispute, whereof the Archbishop of Paris was the Cause, and he may rest assured that Themis will one Day make him perceive that she is not insensible of the Injuries that have been done to her Rights.

The Affair of the Clergy appears to be afresh suspended, it is not at all talked of; every Body is nevertheless desirous of seeing whether the Court will be as resolute in regard to them, as it has been in respect to the Parliament: It is questioned whether it will or no. This Body is too powerful; it has too great an Influence over the Minds and Consciences of People. This is well known, and therefore no Dispatch is made in determining the Dispute: But it is believed, that the Court will not be easily prevailed upon to comply. In the mean Time it draws nothing from the Clergy; one may however suppose, that it will, in the End, find Means of getting an Equivalent to its Demands."

IV. A New General ENGLISH DICTIONARY: peculiarly calculated for the use and improvement of such as are more acquainted with the learned languages. Wherein the difficult words and technical terms made use of, in anatomy, architecture, arithmetick, algebra, astronomy, botany, chymistry, divinity, gardening, grammar, hawking, heraldry, history, horsemanship, husbandry, law, logick, mathematicks, mechanicks, military affairs, musick, navigation, painting, poetry, rhetorick, sculpture, surgery, &c. are not only fully explained, but accented to the proper syllables, to prevent a vicious pronounciation; and each with initial letters, to denote the part of speech to which the word particularly belongs.

To which is prefix'd, a compendious English Grammar, or general rules for the ready formation of one part of speech from another; by the due application whereof, such as understand English only, may be able to write as correctly and elegantly, as those who have been some years conversant in the Latin, Greek, languages.

Together with a Supplement of the proper names of the most noted Kingdoms, provinces, cities, towns, rivers, &c. throughout the known world: As also, of the most celebrated emperors, kings, queens, priests, poets, philosophers, generals, whether Jewish, Pagan, Mahometan, or Christian; but more especially such as are mentioned either in the Old or New Testament. The whole alphabetically digested, and accented in the same method, and for the same purpose, as the preceding part; being collected for the use of such, as have but an imperfect idea of the English orthography.

Originally begun by the late Rev. Mr. THOMAS DYCHE, late master of Stratford-le-Bow, author of the Guide to the English Tongue, the Spelling Dictionary, &c. And now finished, by

WILLIAM PARDON, Gent.

The SIXTH EDITION, with the addition of the several market-towns in England and Wales; giving a general description of the places, their situations, market-days, government, manufactures, number of representatives sent to parliament, distance from London, both in computed and measur'd miles, &c. NOTICE is hereby given to all persons that intend to convey themselves, goods, wares or merchandize, from Philadelphia to New-York, or from New-York to Philadelphia: That there will be a stage-boat, well fitted, and kept by Patrick Cowan, living in Burlington, that will attend every Tuesday in every week, at the Crooked Billet Wharff, in Philadelphia, for the same business, and will proceed the same day up to Burlington, wind and weather permitting. And on Wednesday morning a stage waggon, with a good arning, kept by Fretwell Wright, at the Blue Anchor, in Burlington, and John Predmore, at Cranberry, and James Wilson, at Amboy Ferry; will proceed to Obadiah Ayrs's, Inn-keeper at Amboy Ferry; where good entertainment for man and horse is, and will be kept. And on Thursday a stage passage-boat, with a fine commodious cabbin, fitted with a tea-table, and sundry other conveniencies, kept by Matthias Iselstine, will be ready to receive the passengers or goods, and proceed directly to New-York, and give her attendance at Whitehall Battery. If Passengers are ready at the places on stage days, 'tis believ'd they will go sooner from Philadelphia to New-York, by 24 or 30 hours, than by any other way that has been made use of by stage, the boat from Philadelphia to Burlington seldom being above four hours on her passage, and often but two or three hours. All persons on or near the road, that have business, may have it done with due care and attendance. The price of passengers or goods, that shall come to Burlington, will be no more per mile than from Bordentown. On Sundays or Mondays in any week, passengers trading up and down the river, or any other manner, whose waggon hire shall amount to Sixteen Shillings, or upwards, shall, upon the first notice, have a waggon, and be transported to the stage boat, which will be ready to receive them at the landing, and is the most handy and convenient of any thereabouts, there being a good wharff to step into the boat. The boat, for the first time, will begin to attend at the Crooked Billet on Tuesday, the 13th day of August, 1751, and the waggon will proceed the day following. Further, if the ice, or any thing else, should at any time prevent the passage boat from going from Burlington to Philadelphia, the stage waggon will, if requir'd, proceed from Burlington to Cooper's Ferry. FRETWELL WRIGHT, JOHN PREDMORE, JAMES WILSON, PATRICK COWAN.

TO be sold, by Thomas Cadwalader, at Trenton, a tract of land, of nine hundred acres, lying about a mile and a half north of the town, it will be either disposed of all together or divided into four equal parts, it is exceedingly well timbered and watered by several fine streams, one of which the Trenton mills stand on, it has also very good conveniencies either for a grist-mill, forge, or saw-mill. Three hundred acres, and upwards, of it make extraordinary good meadow, the timber is very fit for building, or scantling for houses, and lies very convenient, near the river Delaware, for transporting to Philadelphia large quantities of wood.

Also a large commodious corner brick house, two stories high, well finished, with three good rooms on the lower floor, and a large entry through it, four good rooms on the upper floor, and four finishing rooms plaistered, in the uppermost story, with good cellars, a kitchen, garden, and stables, situate in Queen-street, in a very public part of the town of Trenton, very convenient for any publick business.

Likewise twenty-five acres of pasture land, on the upper end of Queen-street, in Trenton, Sixteen acres of it cleared, and in good fence, with a good new barn, twenty-six feet by twenty.

And five acres and a half of excellent meadow, well cleared, and in good fence, in Trenton.

Any persons who have an inclination to purchase the above-mentioned premises, may have a reasonable time allowed for the payments. Tbctf.

TO be sold, a new brick house, and lot of ground thereunto belonging, situate on the North side of Sassafras-street, a little above Second-street, in this city, containing in breadth on the said street 16 feet, and in length 114 feet; bounded Eastward with a messuage and lot of ground late of Edward Evans, now of John Groff, Southward with said street, westward with Dilwin's ground, Northward with a certain alley of 12 feet wide, together with the liberty and privilege of the said alley; the house is three stories high, conveniently built, and well finished; has a large kitchen two stories high; the title indisputable. Any person inclining to purchase the Premises, may apply or send their proposals to George Moschell, in Second-street, near Doctor Greams's.

N. B. The purchaser paying two hundred pounds, may have credit for the remainder of the purhase money.

To be LETT,

A Neat well finished house, in Carter's alley, three stories high, with two handsome rooms on each floor. Enquire of

To Cyrus's Throne Phraates rais'd,
Juſt Virtue from the bleſs'd debas'd:
Refining thus the People's Choice,
She bid them not abuſe their Voice.

IN the Reign of Jenghiz Can, Conqueror of the Eaſt, in the City of Samarcand, lived Nouradin the Merchant, renowned throughout all the Regions of India for the Extent of his Commerce, and the Integrity of his Manners. His Warehouſes were filled with all the Commodities of the remoteſt Nations; every Rarity of Nature, every Curioſity of Art, whatever was valuable, whatever was uſeful, haſted to his Hand. The Streets were crouded with his Carriages, the Sea was covered with his Ships, the Streams of Oxus were wearied with Conveyance, and every Breeze of the Sky wafted Wealth to Nouradin.

At length Nouradin felt himſelf ſeized with a ſlow Malady; which he firſt endeavoured to divert by Application, and afterwards to relieve by Luxury and Indulgence. But finding his Strength every Day leſs, he was at laſt terrified, and called for Help upon the Sages of Phyſic. They filled his Appartments with Alexipharmics, Reſtoratives, and eſſential Virtues; the Pearls of the Ocean were diſſolved; the Spices of Arabia were diſtilled; and all the Powers of Nature were employed to give new Spirits to his Nerves, and new Balſam to his Blood. Nouradin was for ſome Time amuſed with Promiſes, invigorated with Cordials, or ſoothed with Anodynes; but the Diſeaſe preyed upon his Vitals, and he ſoon diſcovered with Indignation, that Health was not to be bought. He was confined to his Chamber, deſerted by his Phyſicians, and rarely viſited by his Friends; but his Unwillingneſs to die flattered him long with Hopes of Life.

At length, having paſſed the Night in tedious Languor, he called to him Almamoulin, his only Son; and having diſmiſſed his Attendants, My Son (ſays he) behold here the Weakneſs and Fragility of Man: Look backward a few Days; thy Father was great and happy, freſh as the vernal Roſe, and ſtrong as the Cedar of the Mountain; the Nations of the Eaſt drank his Dews, and Art and Commerce delighted in his Shade: Malevolence beheld me, and ſighed; his Root, ſhe cried, is fixed in the Depths; it is watered by the Fountains of Oxus; it ſends out Branches afar, and bids Defiance to the Blaſt; Prudence reclines againſt his Trunk, and Proſperity dances on his Top. Now Almamoulin, look upon me withering and proſtrate; look upon me, and attend. I have trafficked, I have proſpered, I have riſted in Gain; my Houſe is ſplendid, my Servants are numerous. Yet I diſplayed only a ſmall Part of my Riches. The reſt, which I was hindred from enjoying by the Fear of raiſing Envy or tempting Rapacity, I have piled in Towers, I have buried in Caverns, I have hidden in ſecret Repoſitories, which this Scroll will diſcover. My Purpoſe was, after ten Months more ſpent in Commerce, to have withdrawn my Wealth to a ſafer Country; to have given ſeven Years to Delight and Feſtivity, and the remaining Part of my Days to Solitude and Repentance. But the Hand of Death is upon me; a frigorific Torpor encroaches upon my Veins; I am now leaving the Produce of my Toil, which it muſt be thy Buſineſs to enjoy, with Wiſdom. The Thought of leaving his Wealth, filled Nouradin with ſuch Grief, that he fell into Convulſions, became delirious, and expired.

Almamoulin, who loved his Father, was touched a while with honeſt Sorrow, and ſat two Hours in profound Meditation, without peruſing the Paper which he held in his Hand. He then retired to his own Chamber, as overborn with Affliction, and there read the Inventory of his new Poſſeſſions; which ſwelled his Heart with ſuch Tranſports, that he no longer lamented his Father's Death. He was now ſufficiently compoſed to order a Funeral of modeſt Magnificence, ſuitable at once to the Rank of Nouradin's Profeſſion, and the Reputation of his Wealth. The two next Nights he ſpent in viſiting the Tower and the Caverns, and found the Treaſures greater to his Eye than to his Imagination.

Almamoulin had been bred up to the Practice of exact Frugality, and had often looked with Envy on the Finery and Expences of other young Men; he therefore believed, that Happineſs was now in his Power, ſince he could obtain all of which he had hitherto been accuſtomed to regret the Want. He reſolved to give a Looſe to his Deſires, to revel in Enjoyment, and feel Pain or Uneaſineſs no more.

He immediately procured a ſplendid Equipage, dreſſed his Servants in rich Embroidery, and covered his Horſes with golden Capariſons. He ſhowered down Silver on the Populace, and ſuffered their Acclamations to ſwell him with Inſolence. The Nobles ſaw him with Anger, the wiſe Men of the State combined againſt him, the Leaders of Armies threatened his Deſtruction. Almamoulin was informed of his Danger; he put on the Robe of Mourning in the Preſence of his Enemies, and appeaſed them with Gold, and Gems, and Supplication.

He then ſought to ſtrengthen himſelf by an Alliance with the Princes of Tartary, and offered the Price of Kingdoms for a Wife of noble Birth. His Suit was generally rejected, and his Preſents refuſed. But a Princeſs of Aſtracan once condeſcended to admit him to her Preſence. She received him ſitting on a Throne, attired in the Robe of Royalty, and ſhining with the Jewels of Golconda; Command ſparkled in her Eyes, and Dignity towered on her Forehead. Almamoulin approached, and trembled. She ſaw his Confuſion, and diſdained him: How, ſays ſhe, dares the Wretch hope my Obedience, who thus ſhrinks at my Glance? Retire and enjoy thy Riches in fordid Oſtentation: Thou waſt born to be Wealthy, but never to be Great.

He then contracted his Deſires to more private and domeſtic Pleaſures. He built Palaces, he laid out Gardens, he changed the Face of the Land, he tranſplanted Foreſts, he levelled Mountains, opened Proſpects into diſtant Regions, poured Rivers from the Tops of Turrets, and rolled their Waters through new Channels.

Theſe Amuſements pleaſed him for a Time; but Languor and Wearineſs ſoon invaded him. His Bowers loſt their Fragrance, and the Waters murmured without Notice. He purchaſed large Tracts of Land in diſtant Provinces, adorned them with Houſes of Pleaſure, and diverſified them with Accommodations for different Seaſons. Change of Place at firſt relieved his Satiety, but all the Novelties of Situation were ſoon exhauſted; he found his Heart vacant, and his Deſires, for want of external Objects, ravaging himſelf.

He therefore returned to Samarcand, and ſet open his Doors to all thoſe whom Idleneſs ſends out in Purſuit of Pleaſure. His Tables were always covered with Delicacies; Wines of every Vintage ſparkled in his Bowls, and his Lamps ſcattered Perfumes. The Sound of the Lute, and Voice of the Singer, chaſed away Sadneſs; every Hour was crouded with Pleaſure, and the Day ended and began with Feaſts, and Dances, and Revelry, and Merriment. Almamoulin cried out, I have at laſt found the Uſe of Riches. I am ſurrounded with Friends who view my Greatneſs without Envy; and I enjoy at once, the Raptures of Popularity, and the Safety of an obſcure Station. What Trouble can he feel, whom all are ſtudious to pleaſe, that they may be repaid with Pleaſure? What Danger can he dread, to whom every Man is a Friend?

Such were the Thoughts of Almamoulin, as he looked down from a Gallery upon the gay Aſſembly regaling themſelves at his Expence. But, in the midſt of this Soliloquy, an Officer of Juſtice entered the Houſe, and in the Form of legal Citation ſummoned Almamoulin to appear before the Emperor. The Gueſts ſtood a while aghaſt, then ſtole imperceptibly away, and he was led off without a Friend to witneſs his Integrity. He now found one of his moſt frequent Viſitants accuſing him of Treaſon in Hopes of ſharing his Confiſcation. Yet, unpatroniſed and unſupported, he cleared himſelf by the Openneſs of Innocence, and the Conſiſtence of Truth. He was diſmiſſed with Honour, and his Accuſer periſhed in Priſon.

Almamoulin now perceived with how little Reaſon he had hoped for Juſtice or Fidelity from thoſe who live only to gratify their Senſes; and having wearied himſelf with vain Experiments upon Life, and fruitleſs Searches after Felicity, he had Recourſe to a Sage, who, after ſpending his Youth in Travel and Obſervation, had retired from all human Cares, to a ſmall Habitation on the Banks of Oxus, where he converſed only with ſuch as ſolicited his Counſel. Brother (ſaid the Philoſopher) thou haſt ſuffered thy Reaſon to be deluded by idle Hopes, and fallacious Appearances. Having long looked with Deſire upon Riches, thou hadſt taught thyſelf to think them more valuable than Nature deſigned them, and to expect from them what Experience has taught thee they cannot give. That they do not confer Wiſdom, thou mayſt be convinced, by conſidering at how dear a Price they tempted thee, upon thy firſt Entrance into the World, to purchaſe the empty Sound of vulgar Acclamation. That they cannot beſtow Fortitude or Magnanimity, that Man may be certain, who ſtood trembling at Aſtracan before a Being not naturally ſuperior to himſelf. That they will not ſupply unexhauſted Pleaſure, the Recollection of forſaken Palaces and neglected Gardens will eaſily inform thee. That they cannot purchaſe Friends, thou didſt ſoon diſcover, when thou wert left to ſtand thy Trial uncountenanced and alone. Yet think not Riches uſeleſs: There are Purpoſes to which a wiſe Man may be delighted to apply them; they may, by a rational Diſtribution, eaſe the Pains of helpleſs Diſeaſe, ſtill the Throbs of reſtleſs Anxiety, relieve Innocence from Oppreſſion, and raiſe Impotence to Chearfulneſs and Vigour. This they will enable thee to perform; and this will afford the only Happineſs ordained for our preſent State, the Confidence of divine Favour, and the Hope of future Rewards.

A Letter from the HAGUE, October 3

DEPUTIES from all the Admiralty Colleges in this Province are expected here, in order to confer with the States General about the Reduction of Duties on Imports and Exports; propoſed in the Plan, preſented by the Stadtholder for reviving the Commerce of this Republick. As ſoon as his Serene Highneſs returns to this Place, they will likewiſe conſult about the Execution of ſuch Meaſures as may anſwer this End, and labour therein with all the Zeal and Ardour requiſite, without ſuffering themſelves to be diverted therefrom by trifling Conſiderations, ariſing from Prejudices, Fondneſs for old Cuſtoms, or imaginary Fears of our Neighbours taking Umbrage at our Proceedings. Such Nations as have got Part of the Republick's Commerce from her, thought themſelves warranted by the Law of Nature to improve the Opportunities that offered for ſo doing: And the ſame Law now authorizes the Republick to ſtrive to bring back this Trade into its old Channels, by uſing all the Means conſiſtent with Treaties and Friendſhip with other Powers. This the Plan in Queſtion takes Notice of, inſiſting at the ſame Time on a Reduction of Duties on Exports and Imports, as the beſt Means to reſtore ſuch Branches of Trade as are declining, or have been turned into other Channels. A Compariſon between the laſt and preſent Century makes this very obvious, if we conſider on what Footing the Republick's Trade was formerly with Spain, Portugal, Italy, and France, who received through the Hands of the Dutch, the Products and Manufactures of the North and Baltick; whereas thoſe Nations now go to fetch them with their own Veſſels, or have them brought to them by the Hans Towns. As to the propereſt Methods to be put in Practice, relative to theſe Conſiderations, it appears that the eſtabliſhing of a Free Port is judged the moſt practicable Expedient; that is to ſay, a limited Free Port, which excludes only prohibited Goods, and ſuch Commodities whoſe Exportation might be prejudical to the State. The Plan in Queſtion points out the different Kinds whoſe Importation is prohibited, as alſo the Nature and Qualities of them that are not allowed to be exported; the Prohibition of the former being grounded on their interfering with the Manufactures of the Country, and the Interdiction of the latter being regulated and proportioned according to the Demand there is for them at Home, &c.

Charles-Town in South-Carolina, October 18.

The Robert and Mary, Thomas Tucker Maſter, of and for this Port, from Philadelphia, ſail'd from thence the 16th ult. and was drove aſhore and beat to Pieces on the 17th, on the Coaſt of North-Carolina, 40 Miles to the Southward of Virginia; the Veſſel and Cargo entirely loſt; but the Captain and Crew happily ſaved themſelves in their Boat, and arrived here on Wedneſday.

Nov. 8. Laſt Monday Evening, the Rev. Mr. Whitefield arrived in Town from Georgia, where he arrived about a Fortnight before from England, in a Ship that brought over 155 German Settlers for that Colony.

B O S T O N, December 2.

Yeſterday Morning, a Fire broke out in a Carver's Shop on Colonel Wendell's Wharff; but being ſeaſonably diſcovered, was extinguiſhed without doing any conſiderable Damage.

Alſo this Morning, a Fire broke out on board a Ship at the North-End, which received pretty much Damage thereby, before it was put out.

December 9. We hear from Elizabeth-Town in New-Jerſey, that ſeveral Mad Dogs have infeſted that Neighbourhood within theſe few Weeks paſt; ſome of which have been killed before any Miſchief had been done; but that a Girl had been bit by one of them which had ſlung her into that terrible Condition, which all Accounts agree is common to thoſe bit in Europe;-----As theſe are the firſt that ever appeared in theſe Parts; it has much alarmed the Inhabitants; and has alſo occaſioned the following Letter, and Receipt's being ſent to the Printer, viz.

Mr. Parker,

AS we hear there are a great Number of Mad Dogs in the County of Eſſex, not twenty Miles from this Place, and that ſome People have been already bit by them; I think it the Duty of every One, if they know of any Thing that may be a Cure of that moſt terrible Diſtemper, to communicate it for that Purpoſe: I ſend you herewith, No. 474 of the Philoſophical Tranſactions, in order to publiſh.

Part of a Letter from Alexander Reid, Eſq; to Dr. Wilmot.

Dear Sir, London, Nov. 5. 1745.

AS your Zeal and Abilities for promoting the Good of Mankind are my principal Inducements, they muſt be my only Apology, for troubling you with the following Account of what I know concerning the internal Uſe of Muſk in large Quantities.

About 15 Years ago, I learnt in China, that the Tonquineſe had an infallible Cure for the Bite of a mad Dog; and, being very deſirous of poſſeſſing ſo valuable a Recipe, I was, two or three Years after, favour'd with it by the late Mr. Hart.

They take of the beſt Muſk about ſixteen Grains; of the pureſt native Cinnabar, and fineſt Vermilion, each about Twenty-four Grains; and, having reduced them ſeparately to impalpable Powders, mix and adminiſter them in about a Gill of Arrack (Rum will anſwer the End as well) which, in two or three Hours, generally throws the Patient into a ſound Sleep and Perſpiration; if not, they repeat the Doſe, and think the Cure certain.

N E W-Y O R K, December 16.

By two different Veſſels arriv'd here lately from Europe, we have Advice of the Death of the Prince of Orange, ſome Time in October laſt; but as they have brought no publick Prints, or other particular Account of it, we cannot affirm it; but believe it to be too true.

By Veſſels from the Bay of Hondoras, we have repeated Accounts of a great Sickneſs and Mortality among the People there; which has left ſome Veſſels without Hands enough to bring them off. And in particular, it has been ſo great among the Women on ſhore, that 'tis ſaid there are but two left in all the Bay.

Who can all Senſe of others Ills eſcape,
Is but a Brute at beſt in human Shape.
Tate's Tranſ. Juv. Sat. xv. v. 142.

Mr. URBAN,

IT was a Declaration of the Spectator, (No. 205) that when he met with any vicious Character, that was not generally known, in order to prevent its doing Miſchief, he drew it at full Length, and ſet it up as a Scare-crow; and I here ſend you a Character, which I apprehend is almoſt univerſally unknown, and ſo truly diabolical, and dangerous, that I think it a Scare-crow proper to ſet up in your Magazine, as on a Summit, from whence it will always remain in public View; you may depend on the Character's being real, and now living.

PHILANTHROPOS.

IT is known to moſt, that in and about this Metropolis, there are a Sett of Perſons ſupported by the (very laudable) Trade or Buſineſs of Thief-taking; and it is as generally known, that the Profits or Rewards of theſe induſtrious Perſons, depend not on the apprehending or taking, but the convicting of the Culprit. It is therefore the proper Buſineſs of theſe Takers to Convict alſo, by having particular Care their Priſoners do not eſcape either on one Hand by making if poſſible their Innocence appear; or on the other, for any want of ſufficient Evidence to prove them guilty. It is not long ſince an innocent Perſon was apprehended by ſome of theſe trading Captors, and by them charged with a Capital Crime, for which he was to be arraigned: as it was reaſonably feared he could too plainly make his Innocence appear, by which theſe Proſecutors Reward would be loſt, a proper Attorney was by them ſagaciouſly caſt in the Way of the Priſoner, who propoſing the undertaking of his Defence, with Confidence, aſſuring him he would be moſt honourably acquitted. Accordingly proper Inſtructions were given, together with the proper Fees for Counſel, Sollicitor, Witneſſes, &c. But when the poor Innocent ſtood on his Trial, no Counſel or Witneſſes appearing for him, the Court applied to the Priſoner for his Defence; and when he was going to urge his Innocence, and to expreſs his Surpriſe at having neither the Counſel or Witneſſes preſent whom he had inſtructed and paid his Attorney to procure, this ſagacious Lawyer (who ſtood like the Devil at his Client's Elbow) pull'd him by the Sleeve, and whiſper'd him, that the Evidence for the Crown being ſufficient to convict him, he would only hurt himſelf by any Thing he could ſay, and therefore recommended him to be ſilent; which Advice this unhappy Man (under the Awe of the Court, and the diſtracting Apprehenſions of an undeſerved ignominious Death, and having no Time to deliberate) was ſo very weak as to follow. And the proper Witneſſes for the King, without any Contradiction, having ſufficiently fixed the Fact, the Jury could do no leſs than find him capitally Guilty. The Attorney was then conſcious that his Client's Surpriſe, at finding himſelf ſo unexpectedly and undeſervedly convicted, muſt induce him to make the Court acquainted with his Caſe, and the Conduct of his Lawyer. To prevent which, this ſuperlative Badge of Infamy ſtill buoys up the poor Wretch, tells him he does not mind the Conviction or Sentence in the leaſt; for that he will ſtate his Innocence in a Petition to his Majeſty, and gave full Aſſurance of an immediate Pardon, which, it is too probable, this credulous unhappy Creature would have relied on, till his Execution, had not ſome Fellow Priſoners, to whom he had told his Caſe, perſuaded him to place no farther Confidence in any, but to get his whole Caſe, with the Names, Abodes and Credit of the Witneſſes he expected to have appeared for him, with a full Account of his Attorney's villainous Behaviour and Aſſurances, drawn up in Writing, and preſented to the Judge; which he preſented accordingly, when had up to receive Sentence; and on the Matter's being properly verified, the humane Judge in his wonted Humanity, moſt mercifully procured this unhappy Innocent's Pardon.

It muſt by no Means be omitted, that the Attorney ſtill reigns without any public Cenſure; or that, beſides what Money he had from the Priſoner for Counſel, himſelf. Witneſſes, &c. all of which was put in his own Pocket, he had three Guineas from the Thief-takers for his artful Management in getting this innocent Man convicted.

From the LONDON MAGAZINE for September, 1751.

A LETTER from a NOBLEMAN to his SON.

Dear Boy,

PLEASURE is the Rock which moſt young Men ſplit upon: They launch out with crowded Sails in queſt of it; but without Compaſs to direct their Courſe, or Reaſon ſufficient to ſteer the Veſſel; for want of which, Pain and Shame, inſtead of Pleaſure, are the Returns of their Voyage.

The Character which moſt young Men firſt aim at, is that of a Man of Pleaſure; but they generally take it upon Truſt, and inſtead of conſulting their own Taſte and Inclinations, they blindly adopt whatever thoſe, with whom they chiefly converſe, are pleaſed to call it, which, in the vulgar Acceptation of that Phraſe, means only a beaſtly Drunkard, an abandoned Whoremaſter, or a profligate Swearer and Curſer.

As it may be of Uſe to you, I am not unwilling, tho' at the ſame time aſhamed to own, that the Vices of my Youth proceeded much more from my ſilly Reſolution of being what I heard called a Man of Pleaſure, than from my own Inclinations. I always naturally hated Drinking, and yet I have often drank with Diſguſt at the Time, attended by great Sickneſs the next Day, only becauſe I then conſidered Drinking as a neceſſary Qualification for a fine Gentleman, and a Man of Pleaſure.

The ſame was the Caſe as to Gaming; I did not want Money, conſequently I had no Occaſion to play for it; but I thought Play another neceſſary Ingredient in the Compoſition of a fine Gentleman, and a Man of Pleaſure; and accordingly I plunged into it without Deſire at firſt, and made myſelf ſolidly uneaſy by it for 30 the beſt Years of my Life. I was even abſurd enough, for a little While to ſwear, by way of adorning and compleating the ſhining Character which I affected; but this Folly I ſoon laid aſide, upon finding both the Guilt and Indecency of it.

Thus ſeduced by Faſhion, and blindly adopting nominal Pleaſures, I loſt real Ones. My Fortune impaired, and my Conſtitution ſhattered, are, I muſt confeſs, the juſt Puniſhments of my Errors: Take Warning then by them; chuſe your Pleaſures for yourſelf, and don't let them be impoſed on you; follow Nature, not Faſhion; weigh the preſent Enjoyment of your Pleaſures, againſt the neceſſary Conſequences of them, and then let your own common Senſe determine your Choice.

Were I to begin the World again with the Experience I now have of it, I would live a Life of real, not imaginary Pleaſure. I would enjoy the Pleaſures of the Table and of Wine, but ſtop ſhort of the Pains inſeparably annexed to an Exceſs in either. I would not at 20 be a preaching Miſſionary of Abſtemiouſneſs and Sobriety: I would let other People do as they would, without formally and ſententiouſly rebuking them for it; but I would be moſt firmly reſolved not to deſtroy my own Faculties and Conſtitution, in Complaiſance to thoſe who have no Regard to theirs. I would play to give me Pleaſure, but not to give me Pain; that is, I would play for Trifles in mixed Companies, to amuſe myſelf, and conform to Cuſtom; but I would take care not to venture for Sums, which if I won, I would not be the better for, but if I loſt, ſhould be under a Difficulty to pay, and when paid, would oblige me to retrench in ſeveral other Articles; not to mention the Quarrels, which deep Play commonly occaſions. I would paſs ſome of my Time in Reading, and the reſt in the Company of People of Senſe and Learning, and chiefly thoſe above me: And I would frequent the mixed Company of Men and Women of Faſhion, which tho' often frivolous, yet unbends and refreſhes the Mind, not uſeleſly, becauſe it certainly poliſhes and ſoftens the Manners.

Theſe would be my Pleaſures and Amuſements, if I were to live the laſt 30 Years over again: They are rational Ones; and moreover I will tell you, they are real and faſhionable Ones; for the others are not in Truth the Pleaſures of what I call People of Faſhion, but of thoſe who only call themſelves ſo. Does good Company care to have a Man reeling drunk amongſt them? Or to ſee another tearing his Hair and blaſpheming for having loſt at Play more than he is able to pay? Or a Whoremaſter, with Half a Noſe, and crippled by coarſe and infamous Debauchery? No; thoſe who practiſe and much more thoſe who boaſt of ſuch Pleaſures, make no Part of good Company, and are willingly, if ever, admitted into it.

I have not mentioned the Pleaſures of the Mind, which are the ſolid and permanent Ones, becauſe they do not come under the Head of what People commonly call Pleaſures, which they ſeem to confine to the Senſes. The Pleaſures of Virtue, of Charity, of Learning, are true and laſting Ones, which I hope you will be well and long acquainted with.

I am &c.

GAMING, a Reproach to a CHRISTIAN COUNTRY, with its pernicious Tendency and Effects.

IT is ſomewhere recorded, that Cobilon, the Lacedemonian, being ſent to Corinth, with a Commiſſion to conclude a Treaty of Friendſhip and Alliance, when he ſaw the Captains and Senators of the City playing at Dice, returned Home without doing any Thing, ſaying, That he would not ſo much ſully the Glory of the Spartans, as that it ſhould be ſaid, they had made a League with Gameſters. Hence it ſhould ſeem, this honeſt Heathen took every Man addicted to Gaming for a Fool or a Knave, and therefore reſolved to have no Dealings with ſuch, as neither Character could be depended on.

The Perniciouſneſs of Gaming was ſo well underſtood by the grand Impoſtor Mahomet, that he thought it neceſſary to prohibit it expreſly in the Alcoran, not as a Thing in itſelf naturally evil, but only morally ſo, as it is a Step to the greateſt Vices: For whilſt we captivate ourſelves to Chance, we loſe our Authority over our Paſſions, being excited to immoderate Deſire, exceſſive Hope, Joy and Grief; we ſtand or fall at the uncertain Caſt of the Dice, or the turning up of a Card; we are Slaves to the feebleſt Wiſhes, which if they ſucceed not, we grow furious, profligate and impious; baniſhing all Prudence, Temperance and Juſtice, we become impudent, and fit for the blackeſt Crimes. Hence the Cheats, the Quarrels, the Oaths and Blaſphemies among the Men; and among the Women, the Neglect of Houſhold Affairs, the unlimited Freedoms, the indecent Paſſion; and laſtly, the known Inlet to all Lewdneſs, when, after an ill Run the Fair One muſt anſwer the Defects of the Purſe; the Rule on ſuch Occaſions holding true in Play, as it does in Law, Quod non habet in Crumena, luat in Corpore.——If Chriſtians have not Humility enough to conform to the Rule of Life laid down in Holy Writ, let them at leaſt have Pride enough to be aſhamed out of this deteſtable Vice, by the Example of Pagans and Mahometans.

EDINBURGH, Auguſt 27.

THEY write from Kirkcudbright, that on the 16th inſtant, a Sloop from Whitehaven,—— Sharp, Maſter, bound to Liverpool, with Pipe-clay, having loſt her Bowſprit and Sails at Sea, in a moſt violent Storm, which happened that Day, was thrown upon the Rocks, about a Mile from Kirkcudbright, and daſhed to Pieces. Two Women and four Children periſhed, but all the reſt on board were ſaved.

Sept. 9. Friday laſt the Eaſt Wall of a Land oppoſite to the Croſs, South-Side of the Street, gave way, and fell from Top to Bottom in an Inſtant; by which Mr. Edward Reynalls, a young Gentleman from Jamaica, who was learning Surgery here, was cruſhed to Death among the Rubbiſh.

Lancaſter, Auguſt 30. We have had in our Caſtle for ſome Time (but this Week ſail'd a Tranſport) a Woman dreſſed in Man's Apparel, who has married ſeven Wives, the firſt ſix young Women, who were deceiv'd by Artifice, but the ſeventh being an experienced Widow, ſoon diſcovered her Bedfellow. There was no Law againſt her on that Account, but it is for Theft ſhe is tranſported.

caught 150 Barrels of Herrings; and that if the Weather continued so very favourable as it then was, she would, in all probability, have compleated her Cargoe in two or three Days more.

Last Night was interr'd at St. John the Evangeliſt, Weſtminſter, Mrs. Warton, of Maſham-ſtreet, aged 108.

September 27. By a Letter from Kirby-Underwood, in Lincolnſhire, we have an Account, that on Tueſday Morning laſt Mr. John Fryer, aged 103, was married to Mrs. Lacy, a Widow Gentlewoman, aged 58. The old Gentleman has all his Faculties perfectly ſound. He has a Daughter now living in the 78th Year of her Age.

Sept. 28. They write from Amſterdam, that the Reſpreſentatives of the Prince Stadtholder, and the other Directors of the Dutch Eaſt-India Company, have come to a Reſolution to build ten new Ships for the Service of the enſuing Year.

From the Middle of July to the End of Auguſt laſt, about 8000 Ounces of Gold, and above 300,000 Ounces of Silver, have been enter'd at the Cuſtom-houſe for Exportation to Holland.

A Linnendraper of London lately received 6 Guineas, carefully incloſed within a Number of Papers, and within two Days after a Letter was ſent by the Penny-poſt, importing, that the Perſons who ſent them had ſome Time before been at his Shop, and the moſt urgent Neceſſity had prompted them to make free with a Piece of Cambrick, which they conveyed off without the leaſt Suſpicion; but as their Circumſtances were ſince mended, the 6 Guineas were more than a Recompence for the Debt they had contracted.

On the 18th Inſtant N. S. The French Eaſt-India Company held at Port l'Orient, the greateſt Sale that ever was known in France, conſiſting of more than double the Quantity of Goods they ever put up before, as appears by their printed Liſts;---this is a manifeſt Proof of the great Encreaſe of their Trade, which they are uſing all poſſible Means to advance and protect.

By a Liſt publiſhed of the Ships employ'd in the Whale Fiſhery for 1751, it appears, that 167 went out, viz. 32 from Great-Britain, 13 from Hamburgh, 3 from Altena, 2 from Bremen, one from Embden, and the reſt from Holland.

October 2. Yeſterday two petty Conſtables, remarkable for their Lowneſs of Stature, coming before the Burgeſs Court at Weſtminſter to get themſelves excus'd from ſerving the Office, highly diverted the Court by pleading they were under Standard.

"Among the many Examples of God's Judgments upon thoſe who deſtroy their own Souls by Imprecations and horrible Oaths, the following is a very particular Inſtance, whoſe Example, 'tis hoped, will be a Means of preventing any future Judgments falling on the abominable Curſer or Swearer.---The Relation is, of one Thomas Dowlen, a Maſon of Chewton Mendip, in the County of Somerſet; who working for Farmer Anſey of the ſame Place, on ſome Words paſſing between them, ſwore he would never work for him more; and wiſhed that the Devil would fly away with him, or that God Almighty would ſtrike him dead, if ever he did. This was on Tueſday Se'nnight laſt, on which Evening he was in Company with ſeveral of his Neighbours at a Publick-houſe there; from whom he parted ſeemingly in good Order, as tho' going home to his Family, which conſiſted of a Wife and ſix Children: On the Thurſday Evening following, one of the Perſons with whom he had been drinking (not thinking of the Man) took it into his Head to go to his Orchard near by, to ſee if any Boys had got in to ſteal his Apples, when to his great Surprize, he found the ſaid Dowlen dead, hanging in a very odd Poſture, one hand extended to a Branch above him, the other to another below that, with his Foot about ſix Inches from the Ground; it is ſuppoſed he was ſtruck dead, as he was coming down from the Tree, with his Pockets full of Aples, and left quite ſtiff in the Poſture above deſcribed.---A Matter of great Aſtoniſhment to all the Town; and ſhould be a Terror to all thoſe who dare on the ſlighteſt Occaſion to imprecate the Judgment of God on their own Heads."

Likewise, The BUILDERS COMPLETE ASSISTANT: or a Library of Arts, and Sciences, absolutely necessary to be understood by builders and workmen in general, viz.

1. Arithmetick, vulgar and decimal, in whole numbers and fractions. 2. Geometry, lineal, superficial and solid. 3. Architecture, universal. 4. Mensuration. 5. Plain trigonometry. 6. Surveying of land, &c. 7. Mechanick powers. 8. Hydrostaticks.

Illustrated by above 1300 examples of lines, superficies, solids, mouldings, pedestals, columns, pilasters, entablatures, pediments, imposts, block cornices, rustick quoins, frontispieces, arcades, portico's, &c. proportioned by modules and minutes, according to Andrea Palladio, and by equal parts. Likewise great varieties of trussed roofs, timber bridges, centerings, arches, groins, twisted rails, compartments, obelisques, vases, pedestals for busto's, sundials, fronts, &c. and methods for raising heavy bodies by the force of levers, pulleys, axis in peritrochio, screws, and wedges; as also water by the common pump, crane, &c. wherein the properties, and pressure of the air, on water, &c. is explain'd. The whole exemplified by 77 large quarto copper-plates, by B. LANGLEY. In two large volumes, in octavo, printed on royal paper. Price 10s. 6d. Sterling.

III. THE Workman's GOLDEN RULE, for drawing and working the Five Orders in architecture. Wherein their pedestals, columns, entablatures, imposts, and arches, are taken from the best examples of the antients, and proportioned by equal parts, in a more concise, accurate, and easy manner, than has been done in any Language. For the instruction of apprentices and journeymen masons, bricklayers, carpenters, joiners, carvers, turners, painters, plaisterers, cabinet-makers, &c. (and such masters) who are unacquainted with so much architecture, as is necessary for them to understand, in their respective professions; and others, who desire a just knowledge in that noble art. By B. LANGLEY, architect. Price bound 1s. 6d. Sterling.

IV. A New General ENGLISH DICTIONARY: peculiarly calculated for the use and improvement of such as are unacquainted with the learned languages. Wherein the difficult words and technical terms made use of, in anatomy, architecture, arithmetick, algebra, astronomy, botany, chymistry, divinity, gardening, grammar, hawking, heraldry, history, horsemanship, hunting, husbandry, law, logick, mathematicks, mechanicks, military affairs, musick, navigation, painting, poetry, rhetorick, sculpture, surgery, &c. are not only fully explained, but accented on their proper syllables, to prevent a vicious pronounciation; and marked with initial letters, to denote the part of speech to which each word particularly belongs.

To which is prefix'd, a compendious English Grammar, with general rules for the ready formation of one part of speech from another; by the due application whereof, such as understand English only, may be able to write as correctly and elegantly, as those who have been some years conversant in the Latin, Greek, &c. languages.

Together with a Supplement of the proper names of the most noted Kingdoms, provinces, cities, towns, rivers, &c. throughout the known world: As also, of the most celebrated emperors, kings, queens, priests, poets, philosophers, generals, whether Jewish, Pagan, Mahometan, or Christian; but more especially such as are mentioned either in the Old or New Testament. The whole alphabetically digested, and accented in the same method, and for the same purpose, as the preceding part; being collected for the use of such, as have but an imperfect idea of the English orthography.

Originally begun by the late Rev. Mr. THOMAS DYCHE, schoolmaster of Stratford-le-Bow, author of the Guide to the English Tongue, the Spelling Dictionary, &c. And now finished, by

WILLIAM PARDON, Gent.

The SIXTH EDITION, with the addition of the several market-towns in England and Wales; giving a general description of the places, their situations, market-days, government, manufactures, number of representatives sent to parliament, distance from London, both in computed and measur'd miles, &c. Price 6s. Sterling.

V. A New and Compendious SYSTEM of PRACTICAL ARITHMETICK: Wherein the doctrine of whole numbers, and fractions, both vulgar and decimal, is fully explained, and applied to the several rules or methods, of calculation, used in trade and business; and by shewing and comparing the natural dependance upon, and agreement of, one rule with another, the whole is rendered more easy than heretofore, and the learner is instructed in the vulgar and decimal operations together, which at the same time demonstrates the reason as well as the practice of both by WILLIAM PARDON, Gent. price 4s. 6d. Ster.

VI. THE HOUSEKEEPER'S POCKET BOOK, and Compleat Family Cook; containing, above seven hundred curious and uncommon receipts, in cookery, pastry, preserving, pickling, candying, collaring &c. with plain and easy instructions for preparing and dressing every thing suitable for an elegant entertainment, from two dishes to five or ten, &c. and directions for ranging them in their proper Order.

To which is prefixed, such a copious and useful bill of fare, of all manner of provisions, in season for every month in the year, that no person need be at a loss to provide an agreeable number of Dishes, at a moderate expence. With directions for making all sorts of wines, mead, cyder, shrub, &c. and distilling strong waters, &c. after the most approved method; and directions for managing and breeding poultry to advantage. Concluding with many excellent prescriptions of singular efficacy in most distempers incident to the human body, extracted from the writings of the most eminent physicians by Mrs. SARAH HARRISON, of Devonshire.
